RUSS COLLAPSE APPALLING BLOW TO NEW NATION

Eleventh Army Totally Demoralized and in Great Peril

EIGHTH ARMY THREATENED
BUT MAY BE SAVED

Infantrymen Kill Own Artillerymen to Secure Horses for Flight

(Associated Press Telegram)
London, July 26.—An appalling blow is the description of the Russian collapse given in a dispatch from Petrograd to the Post. Never in the war has Russia put off such enormous armies. British and French guns and gunners, flying machines, aviators and British armored cars were added to the unprecedented technical strength of the Russians themselves to make this particular front equal to anything. The artillery was planned where such admirable material prepared positions as amounted to the ideal. There were pits where the artillery lay in absolutely dead ground not 300 yards from the enemy trenches. Big guns were ideally placed thanks to the character of the terrain.
Information regarding the guns of the eleventh army almost staggers belief. It appears that the infantry shot down their own gunners in order to get their horses or shot down the gun horses in revenge as they retreated, leaving practically all the artillery in the eleventh army in the hands of the enemy.
As the artillery and technical appliances of the seventh and eighth armies are concerned, there is also no hope of their being saved. The Germans were already a couple of days ago across the best road on the shortest line of retreat. The rate of the enemy's advance on the western wing has accelerated and the gun positions are behind the line now occupied by the Germans. It is becoming an exceedingly anxious question whether the eleventh army will succeed in getting away at all, but it is making the best haste eastward.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, July 26.—No attempt is made here to minimize the seriousness of the situation in the United States in the war and will go through with it, but any hope of short struggle has gone glimmering with the apparent almost complete collapse of the Russian war machine.
The development was not unexpected by many army officers. When the offensive of July 1 was started by the Russian forces, the most frequent comment heard here was that it was probably the dying kick of the old Russian machine. Most observers were frankly skeptical that it could produce any decided result.
For the United States, the Russian collapse may have an immediate and direct bearing. It will, in the German general staff press, in its advantage, release additional German forces to bolster up the western front, where American troops are to be engaged. The German line in the west has not been seriously impaired at any point officers here believe. They do not claim to know specifically the situation all along the battle front, but they are unable to see that the British and French have wrested from the Germans any key position of such importance that it can be used next year to hurl the enemy back toward the Rhine.

It has been noted in fact, that the one strategic advantage gained in recent fighting was gained by the Germans. Many officers here believe that when a small sector of the British line in Belgium was over- (Continued on Page 11, Col. 2.)

MRS. MONEY FREED FROM PLOT CHARGE WILL ASK FOR BAIL

(Associated Press Telegram)
San Francisco, July 26.—Attorneys for Mrs. Rosa Money, acquitted last yesterday of a murder charge growing out of the prepared-made bomb explosion here last summer, announced they would move today that she be admitted to bail on seven other indictments charging her with murder in connection with the explosion.
District Attorney Charles M. Fickert, declined to state whether she will be brought to trial again.
The jury, which returned the verdict of acquittal late yesterday, deliberated for 51 hours.

FRENCH SHIPS ALL ESCAPE SUBMARINES

Paris, July 26.—During the week ending midnight July 22, not a single French ship either over or under 1000 tons was lost, according to an official statement yesterday. Six French merchantmen were attacked unsuccessfully during that time by submarines. Ships of all nationalities numbering 1063 entered port and 937 departed.

HAVE CHARGE OF UNCLE SAM'S BIG AVIATION FIELD NEAR DAYTON, OHIO

Capt. Charles Christy (left) and Capt. C. F. Waring, two of Uncle Sam's latest flying men, are in charge of the big aviation field at Fairfield, near Dayton, Ohio. These grounds are to become soon one of the great centers of aviation in the United States.

ADVOCATE CORRECTS ELIGIBLE LIST FROM THE GOVT. OFFICIAL NUMBERS

The local boards had not received their official lists up to noon Thursday. Announcement was made at the provost marshal's office in Columbus that the lists for Ohio had not yet been received there. According to the announcement, all Ohio lists will be sent direct to Columbus and then mailed direct to the Ohio local boards from that point. It was thought that the examinations would not start before Saturday, and possibly next Monday.
The Newark city draft board has taken up headquarters in the jury room of the common pleas court (second floor of the courthouse), and here all examinations will be conducted. A. A. Stasel is the executive officer, and Dr. W. H. Knaus is the medical examiner. Other members of the board are Walter Symons and W. M. Moran. In the county district, Mayor C. D. Coons of Granville is the executive officer, and Dr. Loveless is the medical examiner. The other members are J. C. Williams of Hanover, and A. B. Smith of Utica. This board has established headquarters in the town hall, Granville, where all eligibles called for examination in the district outside of Newark city and Newark township must appear for examination.
Official lists of the draft numbers drawn in Washington last Friday resulted in the correction of a number of errors in the printed list of Newark eligibles to first call for examination to make up the 179 quota which will be taken from the city and 151 from the county to make up Uncle Sam's first selective army.
The printed lists in this issue of The Advocate, containing about 700 names is as near correct as is possible. It has been checked and rechecked with the official list and with the list of serial numbers made up by the local draft board.
Orders will be sent out soon by the local draft board, ordering the Newark men to appear before the local board for examination. The men will appear in the order given in this list, until 179 are accepted for service. It may take 400 registrants to secure the 179 men in the city quota, and it may take more or less. Military men agree that they do not know what number will be exempted for physical defects and occupational reasons. It is not regarded as likely, however, that more than 700 will be required here to get the 179 men in the quota.

GALICIAN ARMY ALONE IS AFFECTED; RUSSIAN EMBASSY ADMITS GRAVITY

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, July 26.—The Russian military situation was acknowledged at the Russian embassy today to be intensely serious, but it was said to be not so critical as reflected in some reports. While the Galician army has admittedly suffered a severe setback, it was pointed out that there is no indication that the defection has spread throughout the whole army or to other armies on the thousand mile front. Official reports are lacking, but it was pointed out that a defection in one regiment alone in a key position might require a general retreat.
At present the embassy believes the trouble is confined to the Galician army alone. Dispatches to the embassy said the Russian and Rumanian armies in the Carpathians still were advancing and have captured 19 guns, several villages and several hundred prisoners. Similarly the troops on the Smorgon-Krevo front just north of the Galician front are reported to have captured 50 machine guns, 2,000 Germans and much war material. The forces involved are largely Siberian.
General Kornilov's Galician army is admittedly in very great danger and retreating in a southerly direction to avoid envelopment of its left flank, and with a desire to keep the front intact, even at the expense of surrendering territory. Withdrawal has taken place from the Brzeczany to the Bucac-Monasterziste line.
The military difficulties are said to have had a very sobering effect in Petrograd, where there is an unanimous desire to bury party differences and stand unitedly behind Premier Kerensky in his extreme measures. The cadet papers, which previously have been at odds with the government, have demanded full support for it, while the progressive papers generally condemn former Premier Lvoff for having resigned at such a time of crisis.

RUSSIAN ARMY IN VOLYNIA IS HOLDING LINE

Forces Further South Also Loyal and Are Attacking Fiercely

DESERTING TROOPS SHOT
BY ORDER OF CHIEFS

No Denial is Made That Situation is Causing Serious Apprehension

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, July 26.—Such details of the Russian retreat in Eastern Galicia as are now coming to hand do not tend to mitigate the seriousness of the situation. The newspapers report that the loss in heavy artillery will be tremendous and express doubt as to the ability of the infantry of the Russian army to make good its retreat.
There is still an absence of assurances that the Russian commanders of the armies taking part in the backward movement have succeeded in getting their refractory troops in hand. Indications are not wanting, however, that the process is well under way. There comes through Petrograd for instance the report that General Kornilov's drastic measures have included the blowing to pieces of an entire division of traitorous troops of the Eleventh army by its own artillery. What may prove to be a saving of the situation is the firmness of the Russian armies both to the north and the south of the field of retreat. There has been no suggestion of any yielding tendencies of the Russian forces in Volynia, just to the north of the affected sector, while to the south the Russian troops are not only standing fast, but they are able but are co-operating with the Rumanians in a successful offensive movement on the Moldavian frontier.
London is sphygmik today regarding the situation along the Franco-Belgian front. It is declared in the German reports that one of the most violent artillery battles in history has been in progress in Belgium, even last night's supplanting the continuance of the heavy firing. All that the British press bureau gives out today from that front however, is the report of a successful British raid near Arras, adding that there was "nothing else of special interest."
Although British shipping losses increased slightly last week, the French admiralty is able to make the striking announcement that not a single French vessel fell victim to a submarine during that period. Six vessels were unsuccessfully attacked. The Italian marine report (Continued on Page 6, Col. 3.)

DRUGS ARE USED TO RENDER DRAFT ELIGIBLES UNFIT

(Associated Press Telegram)
Cleveland, July 26.—Department of Justice officials and officials of the federal revenue department today started a campaign to block the distribution of drugs that render drafted men temporarily unfit to be passed for military service.
One physician and a young man for whom the physician prescribed a drug already are under surveillance and officials are investigating a report that a number of other young men are taking drug treatments.
Local department of justice officials today issued an appeal to the Cleveland Medical Academy to use its influence to prevent unscrupulous doctors from prescribing drugs that would render men temporarily unfit.

Cleveland doctors named a half dozen drugs which will induce temporary irregularities of heart action, temporary deafness, temporary rashes resembling permanent skin and blood diseases and a number of other symptoms that probably would disqualify men on physical examination.

PREDICT MANY EXECUTIONS IN RUSSIAN ARMY

(Associated Press Telegram)
Petrograd, July 26.—The commander in chief and the commanders of the various armies at the front having insisted that restoration of discipline in the army inevitably would necessitate infliction of the death penalty, the government has agreed unanimously to restore capital punishment. The measure is of a temporary character, to have effect until the end of the military operations.
The inquiry into the recent disorders here is being continued energetically under the supervision of the prosecutor. The authorities are taking measures to discover and bring to justice all organizers of and participants in the revolt.
The provisional government today decided to establish on all the Russian fronts court-martials composed of three officers and three soldiers.

DYERS WILL ELECT.
Cedar Point, July 26.—The National Association of Dyers and Cleaners expect to re-elect Dr. H. E. Kichling, Louisville, Ky., as president this afternoon. John B. Corley of St. Louis has strong opposition for secretary.

CHILDREN AND THEIR MOTHERS ARE USUAL VICTIMS OF FOE'S AIR RAIDS

Women air-raid victims in England going home after hospital treatment (above) and a mother with her injured child.

Recent German air-raids on England have had their usual toll of children and women. The perfection of warning systems and "sound bombs" however, has done a great deal to prepare the people before a raid and they are not so greatly feared as earlier in the war. The British airplanes and anti-aircraft guns are proving more effective in every raid and in the latest the German fleet was driven away before it was able to reach London.

GREAT CROWDS ENJOY COMMUNITY PICNIC; WEATHER MAN IS GENEROUS

Ideal weather again favored the general committee in charge of the great community event which has been advertised as the farmers and merchants' picnic. However, the weather man did not begin his kindly overtures soon enough for the continuous rain through June and the first half of July so delayed the farmers in their work that thousands found it impossible to leave their fields for the day's outing at Mount-builders park. The crowd was not as large as anticipated though the difference could not be noted by the casual observer for the big park was crowded.
Like last year, the visitors began arriving at the park early, and the people kept coming in streams up until noon when the most of them gathered in their family groups for their picnic dinners or lined up at the hotel to get a chicken dinner.
The headquarters tent for refreshments, where lemonade and coffee were furnished free was a popular place with the visitors especially at dinner time and many hundreds of gallons of these beverages were given away.
The general committee and the sub-committees had their various duties so carefully divided and outlined beforehand that there was no confusion and the various events for the entertainment of the thousands were conducted without a hitch. The day was hot and the committee men wilted their collars but in spite of these slight discomforts they enjoyed their work because of the fact everybody was having. Some of it was bound to rub off on the hard worked committee men.
The athletic events were the first contests on the program. The boys and girls lined up promptly at 3:45 and the entire list of races and contests went through without a hitch, some 25 events being disposed of promptly. Cash prizes were awarded.
Street car traffic throughout the morning was heavy. Extra cars put in service by the Ohio Electric handled all this traffic without serious difficulty. Car No. 246 broke down at Sixth and Church streets shortly after 11 o'clock when one of the axles broke. After an hour's delay the car was taken to the barns for repairs and the track cleared for other traffic.
A woman passenger on the car fainting from fright but was soon revived and suffered no ill effects.
The Chamber of Commerce information tent at the Fair Ground was the nerve center of the day's activity. From this headquarters tent the general committee directed the work of the sub-committees, answered ten million questions, gave information over the telephone, handed out official programs and did other things to make the guests of the day comfortable.

PRACTICE BOMB EXPLODES; FIRST SAMMY IS HURT

(Associated Press Telegram)
With the American Forces in France, Wednesday, July 25.—The first field casualty among the American forces occurred today. A soldier became too inquisitive in regard to the construction of a live French bomb among the supplies brought to camp for training purposes. He extracted the safety pin in some manner and very soon thereafter a loud explosion occurred. Fortunately for the soldier the bomb did not contain a charge of full battle strength or he would have been blown to pieces. As it was, he escaped with the loss of his right hand.
At every vantage point near the camp, men in khaki and men in blue could be seen today, drilling, marching and digging side by side. Field maneuvers were in progress at several places while from more secluded spots came the rattle of machine guns. Musketry practice was being held and on every hand was activity which was most impressive.
The French and American soldiers seem to enjoy their association thoroughly. The French frankly admire the aptitude of their enthusiastic pupils.
Visits to the French front undoubtedly will be quite frequent in the future in order that American officers may acquaint themselves with conditions of life on the front line in its various phases, including routine as well as the actual working out of offensive and defensive plans.

CREW SAVED FROM AMERICAN VESSEL
London, July 26.—The American sailing vessel Augustus Well was sunk last Saturday. The crew was saved. No details of the sinking have been received.
The Augustus Well was a wooden vessel of 1221 tons. She was owned by A. R. Reed of Waldoboro, Maine. Its port of registry was Boston.

AMERICA DOESN'T UNDERSTAND THE POSITION OF DUTCH

Envoy to Discuss Export Embargo Will Clear Up Misunderstanding

PRODUCTS OF DUTCH INDIES
WILL FIGURE IN PARLEY

Holland's Shipping Badly Needed By Allies is Envoy's Claim

(Associated Press Telegram)
The Hague, July 26.—"We are going to America to clear up what we believe is a misunderstanding of our position," said J. B. Van Der Houven Van Cordt, member of the mission which is being sent to the United States to plead the cause of Holland in the export question, in a statement made here today. He is former vice president of the council of the Netherlands and the East Indies and former under-secretary for the colonies.
"We shall go prepared to show the United States government and people the facts and figures of the real situation," he continued. "I believe it is in the interest of America and her allies that our traffic with America shall continue. For instance 66 or 70 Dutch ships are now in American ports. That alone is a big disadvantage to the allies in view of the shortage of cargo space."
Mr. Van Cordt spoke of the large quantities of tropical products which are being supplied to America from the Dutch Indies and of the increasingly important commercial relations between these lands. He was asked his opinion of the suggestion reported to have been discussed in a newspaper interview by the Dutch minister at Washington that Holland should turn over ships to America under charter for service outside the European danger zone in return for facilities in obtaining supplies. He replied that he was not acquainted with the government's views on this point but personally he was disposed to regard the idea favorably provided Holland's own shipping needs were first met.
It is hoped to bring about resumption of shipments from the United States under conditions similar to those before the war. Mr. Van Cordt believes the mission will be able to persuade America that such an arrangement would be to the interests of both nations. The mission will depart at the first vessel sailing after August 1. Several liners are ready to sail for the United States as soon as a settlement has been reached of the present complications in regard to a free channel in the North Sea.

DRAFT LIST NOT RECEIVED; DELAY ORDER FOR EXAMS

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, O., July 26.—The master list of draft numbers had not been received at state registration headquarters this morning and a delay will be occasioned in Ohio in starting physical examination of men for the first draft army. Copies of the master list first are to come here and two copies then sent to each selection or local board in the state. It may be Saturday, or even next week before the examination can be started.

RUSS ARTILLERY TURNED ON OWN TRAITOR TROOPS

(Associated Press Telegram)
London, July 26.—A dispatch to the Post from Petrograd says that under General Kornilov's drastic measures to restore order in the Eleventh army one whole division thereof was blown to pieces by their own artillery to avenge the insult which all loyal troops especially the artillery, have been silently enduring for the past four months from these "traitorous rascals."

FARS ASKED TO AS FOOD SAVING CAMPAIGN

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, July 26.—All patriotic demonstrations at the food training camps to be conducted by fall in connection with the leading fairs and expositions will be under the direction of the Council of National Defense.
The council today sent out orders to all state councils instructing them to postpone action on programs for patriotic demonstrations until a definite, uniform plan can be worked out.
At the same time, through the food training camp department of the American Association of Fairs and Expositions, similar orders were sent out to the fairs and expositions which are members of the association.

MUST NOT REVISE WAR AIMS PARIS PAPER ASSERTS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Paris, July 26.—"There must be no confusion in today's Balkan conference with that proposed by Russia for the revision of war aims," says the Journal Des Debats, discussing last night's session of the allied conference, which opened yesterday. "If any such question were to be under discussion the United States, which would have much to say, would not have been content to send only an admiral to the deliberations," the newspaper adds. It hopes the eventualities will not make such a conference urgent in the eyes of the Russians to whom the enemy has spoken vaguely of peace without, however, saying a word about the future of the conquered Russian people.

The Journal Des Debats again dismisses rumors that the conference would take up peace aims and concludes:

"For the moment it is necessary to win. The Paris conference has for its program the better arranging of ways and means on the Balkan front. That is all, and that is not enough."

The Temps points out that the conference falls on the third anniversary of Austria's breach with Serbia which upset all Balkan affairs and unleashed a war that cost the lives of millions of men. The paper then sketches in detail event at the outbreak of the war, their far-reaching consequences and responsibility of such men as Count Tisza and Emperor William and the unchanged attitude of nearly all of Germany toward war.

CLEVELAND UNIT EXPECTS ORDERS SOON TO DEPART

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Cleveland, O., July 26.—Fifth Regiment Infantry officers today expressed belief that an order to leave Cleveland would come within a few days. Word has been received that the regiment would be equipped at once. Physical examinations, vaccination, and anti-typhoid inoculation have been completed. Physical examination was begun at the engineers' camp at Gordon Park today. The examinations will take three days. The vaccination and anti-typhoid inoculation will be started.

Seventy-one members of the naval volunteers left here for an eastern port last night. This was the fourth contingent to go.

Enlistments here yesterday numbered nearly 200.

BALTIC FLEET IS AGAIN IN FAVOR

Petrograd, July 26.—A telegram from Helsingfors says that the Russian warships Slava, Republika and Setopavsk, which were involved in the recent disaffection of men in the Baltic fleet, have been recalled to favor in consequence of Premier Kerensky's order concerning the dissolution of the central committee of the Baltic fleet. The committee's flag on the yacht Polar Star, which formerly belonged to Emperor Nicholas, has been lowered.

URGE MOTORS FOR ALL FRENCH AGRICULTURE

Paris, July 26.—With the object of assuring France's agricultural development and preventing a labor crisis, the Academy of Agriculture has unanimously demanded of the authorities that vessels which are being used to carry food to the army in the Orient shall be employed on their return to bring phosphate from Algeria and Tunis.

The academy further requested that motor culture be introduced on large as well as small estates, that war material factories shall be instructed to employ their resources in labor for the construction of tractors as soon as an armistice is declared, and that schools of motor culture for the benefit of farmers be instituted in all districts.

BRITISH LOSSES ARE HEAVIER; 21 VESSELS ARE SUNK

London, July 26.—Twenty-one British vessels of more than 1600 tons each and three of less than 1,600 tons each, were sunk last week by mines or submarines, according to the weekly admiralty report on shipping losses.

One fishing vessel was also sunk. The announcement of the British admiralty given above shows an increase of seven vessels of more than 1600 tons sent to the bottom as compared with the report of the previous week, when 14 were sunk. In the smaller category the loss is one less than that given in the report of previous week, while there was a falling off by seven in the number of fishing vessels sunk.

OHIO ADDS 136 TO U. S. REGULARS; BIG U. S. ARMY IS RECRUITED

Washington, July 26.—The latest recruiting figures from Ohio make a fine showing. At all regular Ohio army recruiting stations Tuesday, 136 recruits were accepted, which is the largest number for many days. Ohio's total is now 7332; the Ohio quota is 9534.

Under stimulus of the draft, recruiting for the regular army showed a decided increase Tuesday, bringing in 2294, with four districts yet to be heard from. That makes the total obtained since April 1, 153,007, leaving only 23,891 to be obtained to bring the regulars to war strength.

PARIS RELIEF DEPOT BARS ALL EXCEPT RED CROSS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

New York, July 26.—The Red Cross committee on co-operation will treat separately with each of the independent organizations for collecting and forwarding supplies to Europe, according to an announcement today, because of the inability of the Federal Council of the Allied War Relief charities to reach an agreement with the International society. This announcement was made by Judge Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the Red Cross committee on co-operation, who added that in less than six weeks all avenues of distribution of war relief through the American clearing house at Paris would be closed to all organizations except the Red Cross.

LOOK TO AMERICA FOR SUPPORT IN REVIVING GREEKS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Athens, Tuesday, July 24.—On the eve of the assembling of parliament, Premier Venizelos received a correspondent of the Associated Press and made the following statement:

"The reassembling of parliament, which was dismissed by the arbitrary action of Constantine, is the formal resumption of democratic government and the rule of the people, in line with the ideals and principles of which the United States gives a conspicuous example. No longer have we a royal autocrat ruling by the divine right of kings and not responsible to the people, but rather a constitutional monarchy in which authority is exercised within strict limits."

"We look to the United States for powerful support in working out our own destinies. Greece is now aligned with the entente allies. Relations with the central powers have been broken and a state of war now actually exists, as Greek troops are fighting against the central powers in Macedonia. A formal declaration of war was made by the provisional government and it is unnecessary to renew it."

"The increase of the Greek army and co-operation with Serbia will restore the Balkan forces to their proper role of defenders of the integrity of the Balkans. France and other protecting powers are leaving us a free hand and all the allies recognize Greece's position as a sovereign and independent nation."

HOTEL LIFE.
In spite of the great number of people who spend vacations in cottages and bungalows of their own, summer hotels are being built all the time, and many of them are of great magnificence. You may be far away from the haunts of men and all provisions and supplies may have to be carried over the road. But the machinery of lavish living follows even to the wilderness. Even in the wild scenes of nature you find your oriental rugs and plate glass windows and mahogany furniture. The thing seems exotic and artificial, but it seems to take this kind of an atmosphere of display to make some people feel at home.

There are plenty of simpler resorts for the quiet folks also. Every hotel has its own type of people. Some are inexpensive and rough and plain, appealing to people who like plenty of good food but would as soon sit at the end of the table. Others no more costly have somehow attracted to themselves circles of people who are rich in intelligence and culture, not in money. Associations are formed in money like these that last a life time and are elevating and enriching.

It's a gambling game to engage summer board from the hands of prospectuses that the managers send to your address. The hotel may be equipped with all the facilities for amusement, and you feast your eyes on the prospects of tennis courts, lovely dance music, and charming society. When you get there the old habits look over their shoulders at you superciliously, and perhaps will venture a few words of stilted conversation about the time you got home.

It is hard to imagine a more uneasy or unpleasant situation than being a guest among people with whom one is not congenial. Even the finest view of sea and sky will pall, and then you begin to look around for human companionship. If you are opposite at the dining table want to know about your family pedigree or your bank before he enters into conversation, you are more lonely than if you were in the wilderness. The people who get the most of hotel life are those that go to places recommended by personal friends, or who try out an inn for a few days before settling down for their whole vacation.

TIN CAN PROBLEM.
It is surprising how when you try to speed up industrial activity one defect after another shows itself in the system of organizations. It is about like mending an old pair of shoes. If you repair the sole then the heel gives out. Next the upper cracks, and by the time that has been patched the stitching falls apart.

But wonders can be accomplished with our American capacity for adjustment. One of the minor defects in our organization for war is the shortage of tin for canning purposes. There is a nation-wide campaign to popularize the use of paper, fiber, and other containers. With the government food organization for canning food products, a largely increased food supply in this form should be available. But if tin is going to be scarce, the canned product will fall short for lack of a hitherto despised material.

The tin can has been regarded as about the lowest form of value in the popular mind. It is the constituent of dump heaps, something that bad dogs attach to the tails of homeless dogs and cats, and the legendary food of the goat. Many a house built on filled in land really rests on a subsoil of tin cans. A back yard filled with them represents

WILL KERENSKY WIN?

(Columbus Dispatch.)
Will Kerensky win? That is the big question of the world today. He often has won, and the odds have often been against him, but he is now playing his greatest game. He has gone to the front to turn back the fleeing Russians—to reorganize their shattered regiments, to put into them a new inspiration, to talk to them in the Kerensky way—which so far has always been successful.

No man of ancient or modern times has ever been able to turn so many men to his way of thinking by talking to them as has Kerensky. Often when the tide of thought was running against him he has asked an audience. And just as often when he has finished his few remarks—for he never talks at length—the tide has turned and run toward him. That is all he proposes to do now—to meet the disheartened troops and speak to them.

There is no secret connected with Kerensky's success. It is an open book—an open conversation. It's voice is the voice of sincerity, and sincerely never yet has lost. No one can look at the man and hear him speak without knowing he means what he says and is unselfish in the matter. His bitterest enemies have become his friends after meeting him personally. No one has ever accused him of selfishness after becoming acquainted with him. Rich and poor alike have never doubted after having looked into his eyes or heard his voice. But he is now going to meet men whose attitude toward life—and death—is different. For these Russian soldiers must be in a strange mental attitude when they throw down their guns and retreat, with so much depending upon them.

TEUTONIC FICTIONS.
(Philadelphia Record.)
A good deal of nervousness has been created at Fort Niagara by reports created among the candidates for officers that they will have only one chance in two of surviving the war, and that soldiers in the trenches only last two days. It is now learned from Pittsburgh that these and many other scare stories have been killed. Instead of 65,000 men out of serving in the army, The Pittsburgh chapter of the American Red Cross has adopted plans to obtain refutation of these yarns, which will be used by Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart in matter to be supplied to the newspapers. Among these German fictions is the story that Germany has 550,000 youths annually reaching the military age. It has not that number, even if the girls are included. Before the war it was taking 260,000 men annually for the army and leaving out 80,000.

Instead of a huge mortality among Canadians, as reported, only about 21,000 out of nearly half a million have been killed. Instead of 65,000 physicians dead in France the number is nearer 150. Germany, or Germans, have resorted to the falsehoods regarding the casualties of war in the hope of deterring Americans from the service of their country.

GETTING RICH FROM WAR.
(American Magazine.)
The creation of billions and billions of new tokens of wealth (bonds) and the spending of these billions serve to put more money into circulation. This stimulates industry, inflates wages and raises prices, yet the marginal most cases is higher than in normal times, so that the thrifty who benefit from war wages can and do save distinctly more than is possible during peace. The rich likewise stop paying hundreds of thousands of dollars for additions to their picture galleries, their art collections, their tapestries, their knickknacks, etc.

Prominent European families have parted with many famous pictures, porcelains, ivories and heirlooms to rich Americans during the last two years, but even our wealthiest citizens are now feeling the pinch of taxation to an extent that chills their enthusiasm for art objects costing fortunes. Abroad, as here, the financial burden of the war is falling heavily on those best able to bear it—the wealthy.

The world war has really tended to make the rich poorer and the poor richer.

SITUATION IN RUSSIA.
(Ohio State Journal.)
The Russian situation is the darkest spot in the war prospect today. The Russian revolutions are playing false to the world democracy. In the midst of a victory, they throw down their arms and flee. In all the experience of any nation there never was so disappointing and disgusting conduct as these socialist gangs are showing. Mr. Roial and party are coming home. They have done a great work, but it is unfinished. Now is the most critical point in the conflict. The brave Kerensky is doing his best. If he does not succeed, the end of the war is postponed a year. In the meantime, the United States should show its hand in a most powerful way. It should drop atom-bombs, food control, ship controversy and building infinite camps and go to fighting. That is the only way in sight of meeting the Russian reverse, but we still have faith in Kerensky.

No More Cash.
With these high prices, said the customer to the grocer, you must be making a lot of money.
No, replied the grocer, I'm not making any more money. My customers merely owe me more.—Detroit Free Press.

Spirit of the Press

One Mother.
There is one good mother in Holyoke to whom we ought to offer salute. She has four sons. Three of them have enlisted for the war and gone on duty. The fourth is only waiting until he has two back teeth fitted up for service and he will be off. She has also sent a daughter across the Atlantic wearing the uniform of a Red Cross nurse. And every day that good American mother (she was born across the seas) goes through the gathering dust to church and all alone spends a little time on her knotted knees. No one need ask for whom her prayers are raised.—Holyoke Transcript.

Systematic War Saving.
A second appeal to the people of the United States for a gigantic war fund on the credit of an issue of government bonds is inevitable, whether it shall come early in the fall or at the beginning of another year, and preparation for it is in order. Surprisingly large as was the popular subscription to the first Liberty loan, it will be expected that the response to the next appeal will be much larger, as indeed it must be if the funds in the open money market are to be kept available in liberal supply for the needs of commerce and industry. Nor is there the slightest doubt as to the capacity of popular subscription if proper appeal is made and adequate methods are provided for this monetary recruiting.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

War Weariness.
Much as we dislike to acknowledge it, it is certain that the initial enthusiasm of war is always the greatest. From the start of a great conflict to its close there is a steady decline not only in the spirit of the people but in their willingness to make the sacrifices that are necessary for its prolongation. The government and those who seek to advise it, guide it and criticize it must reconcile themselves to this and plan accordingly. There are those who believed and who will still believe that the longer we are in the war the greater the enthusiasm of our people would become. A considerable body of opinion argues that as soon as we begin to suffer heavy casualties will then and then only lend that encouragement and active support to the government which is at present lacking. No greater fallacies than these two points of view were ever conceived. All experience is absolutely opposed to all experience; it avails us nothing to harbor them and it is a positive danger to build on them.—Detroit Free Press.

The Coal Industry.
The coal industry of the United States may soon be nationalized, and it may never be denationalized. If the Pomerene amendment to the Food bill should now get through the conference stage. The amendment does not authorize the President, in his discretion, to fix coal prices; it "directs" him to do so. Furthermore, the amendment authorizes him to take over the entire industry and run it, "if necessary." What is in price fixing more, and in Government coal mines. With coal so high as it is such development would not cause a revolution against the Government.—Springfield Republican.

"THREE MEN ARE NEEDED TO FIRE THE GUN"—CONGRESS

GERMAN PEASANTS DO NOT KNOW OF U. S. ENTERING WAR
(Associated Press Correspondence)
London, July 12.—Germany's dream of world conquest has been shattered and the belief among all classes there now is that the war must end through diplomacy rather than by a brilliant victory, according to the German prisoners in England.

A representative of the Associated Press who has just returned here after a visit to the large internment camps at Dorchester, where approximately 1900 German prisoners are quartered, is enabled to present many interesting sidelights on the German viewpoint as represented by men of all types who have fought with the German forces on land and sea and in the air. These may be summarized as follows:
Germany has prepared to hold out to the end.
The economic situation in Germany is not as bad as it has been reported either by the belligerent or neutral press.
Contrary to reports, there is no visible shortage of materials actually needed for the prosecution of the war.
America's entry into the war will prolong rather than shorten it.
The United States being essentially a commercial nation she cannot make her great man-power felt soon enough to change the course of events.
The submarine are doing all that was expected of them.
There is a surprising lack of concern manifested by the prisoners because of the United States being arrayed against their country. The correspondent was allowed to mingle with them freely at times, without any of the British officials in charge of the camp being present.
A young German airman who was brought down recently off Dover, and who exhibited an iron cross which he said he had won for many daring feats over the Anglo-French lines, seemed to express the view of the more intelligent class of prisoners by asserting there had been "so many declarations of war" against Germany when the United States came in that any more did not matter. Asked whether it would surprise the German people if the United States should actually place 1,000,000 men in France within a year, the airman smiled as one amused and replied: "I would like to see them first."

A tall, distinguished-looking fellow who had been a prisoner since the battle of the Marne, and who said he was formerly a lawyer in Bavaria, expressed the belief that the war would undoubtedly result in giving the German people a more democratic form of government. He doubted, however, whether any attempt to remove the emperor would succeed. Germany, he said, was so accustomed to an imperial head that he did not think it would be advisable for her to follow Russia's example. Others, including a former chemist, a government official from West Africa, and a young man who said he had been a professor of English in a German university, laughed heartily when the thought was suggested to them.

Three Prussian youths who were taken prisoners by the British in the recent Messines push, were believed to have represented the attitude of the peasant classes when they asserted that they did not even know the United States had entered the war. They were each 20 years old, and had been called to the colors a year or so much against their will, they added. They had received nine months training prior to being sent to the front.

The remarkable training of the Germans is shown in the discipline maintained at the Dorchester prison camp. Although more than 20,000 prisoners have been interned there since the war started, only two have attempted to escape. Almost without exception the Germans say they are contented with their surroundings and are well treated.

The Germans do their own washing and cooking. Their rations consist of 13 ounces of bread daily, six ounces of meat four days a week, four ounces of an ounce of coffee, four ounces of sugar daily, two ounces of turnips daily, two ounces of beans or peas daily, two ounces of oatmeal daily, one ounce of jam daily, two ounces of cheese daily, 10 ounces of fish two days a week, four ounces of rice daily, and meal, pepper and salt. There is a slight reduction of bread, cheese and meat in the ration of those who do no work.

Except for their confinement the German war prisoners are not much differently situated than any ordinary party of campers. Perhaps the one thing that impresses an American most is the spirit of sympathy which seems to exist between the British officials and their German charges and which is shown not so much in their military salutations as by the care the one has taken to contribute any more than is necessary to the discomfort of the other, while the prisoner himself smilingly accepts his lot as one infinitely better than that of his former comrades in arms.

A SAFE TEST
For those who are in need of a remedy for kidney troubles and backache, it is a good plan to try Doan's Kidney Pills. They are strongly recommended by Newark people.
Frank J. Trost, electrician, 236 W. Main St., Newark, says: "I suffered for years with my kidneys. I had a lot of lameness across my back when I was unable to rest good at night or lie on my back. My kidneys troubled a great deal as they acted every little while. The kidney secretions were scant and highly colored, and at times contained sediment. I often had to go four or five times during the night on account of my kidneys. Mornings, I felt more tired than when I went to bed. I went to A. F. Crayton & Co.'s Drug Store and got Doan's Kidney Pills. They proved in my case all they are claimed to be and three boxes cured me and put me in good shape."

NATIONAL BREAD ECONOMY

WASTERS AID THE ENEMY

By Herbert C. Hoover.

International expert, whose work among the sufferers of Belgium made him the choice of President Wilson for food conservation, has written this article expressly to introduce a series by the leading food authorities of the country, to preach the gospel of bread conservation.

WE must see that all bread when once made is used in its entirety. For home consumption to waste bread is to contribute strength to the enemy.

To save bread is to help in the fight.

Those who handle wheat and flour and those who sell bread and other foods made from wheat will have to work together to make the maximum amount of saving in manufacture. But no matter how careful they may be, it is only by the assistance of the consumer in the home that the saving, absolutely needed, can be brought about.

A wider knowledge of the facts in regard to bread making, bread keeping, and bread as an article of diet would bring about the complete use of every particle of bread brought into the home. I hope we may be educated during the early period of the war to the full necessity of home care and home saving in this vital matter.

The world supply of wheat is short and we shall have a great difficulty in transporting any surplus that may exist in any part of the world to the spot where it is most needed. Above all, America can feed Europe, and it must do so in spite of the submarine menace. We shall have some surplus even though we continue our former habits of the free use and often the waste of wheat and wheat products, but we must have a large surplus and this large surplus we can acquire only by rigid economy in the use of wheat.

The United States is just coming to a realization of the world's food problem. The unusual and unique conditions associated with the Great World War have had a profound effect upon the production, distribution and consumption of foodstuffs. The world had been linked together in such a way that there was a flow of foodstuffs, particularly grain, to the point where they were most needed. With the changes brought about by placing several millions of men on the battle line and with the submarine effect on shipping, all of this has materially changed, as far as Europe is concerned.

In America there always has been a surplus of foodstuffs and we have contributed materially to the support of other countries. We have never had to make a particular effort to conserve our food supply or to avoid hunger and starvation by thrift. We now find ourselves the one great source of the surplus food that must reach Europe, if we are to win the war. That surplus will be scanty, particularly this year, because of the comparative failure of the winter wheat, and it can only be increased by the most conservative use of our supplies and by the most restricted use of food by our European Allies.

The problem of feeding ourselves and feeding our own army abroad and every individual. We are asking the women of the country to be the first to organize themselves for food conservation. We hope to have all of them sign a pledge to follow our directions, which will be simple and few, which will, if carried out, have a marked effect upon the food which we can export. It will also contribute materially to getting the prices of foods upon a more satisfactory basis. The war has disturbed the ordinary commercial machinery of this country and the abnormal call for food from other countries. "To save is to serve" is to be the motto of the great group of women and men associated with us as members of the Food Administration. Their aim will be to live wisely, but not too well, to eat frugally but to avoid waste, to eat vegetables and food products grown near home and to save staples for export.

Those in charge of the food products of the country have a particular responsibility upon them, so that the maximum amount can be obtained from existing food supply. Bakers should encourage the economical use of the bread made from wheat and encourage the use of other flours in bread-making. And by so doing will render their country a real service. I feel that the national service is in with all other groups of Americans in doing their part in the national service.

I feel confident that the splendid volunteer spirit of service of the American people will demonstrate itself in solving our food problem and that all American producers, manufacturers, merchants and consumers will work together towards a common end.

KILBANE BEATEN IN THIRD ROUND

(Associated Press Telegram)

Philadelphia, July 26.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, stopped Jimmy Kilbane, featherweight title holder, in the third round of what was to have been a six-round bout at Shibe park last night.

Jimmy Kilbane, Kilbane's manager, tossed a towel into the ring when two minutes and 38 seconds of the third round was over.

At no time during the three rounds did Kilbane show good margin. Benny won the first two rounds, the second by even greater odds and, in the third, beat Kilbane helplessly to the floor.

WHY SOCIETY WOMEN WASH THEIR OWN HAIR

They do, not because it is a fad, but because they wish to obtain the greatest possible hair beauty and be sure they are not using anything harmful. They have found that in washing the hair it is never wise to use a makeshift but is always advisable to use a preparation made for shampooing only. Many of our friends say they get the best results from a simple home-made canthorox mixture. You can use this at a cost of about three cents a shampoo by getting some canthorox from your druggist, and dissolving a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes enough shampoo liquid to apply to all the hair instead of just the top of the head, as with most preparations. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear in the rinsing water. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you.—Advertisement.

BRITISH TANKS GIVEN CREDIT FOR GREAT WAR

(Associated Press Telegram)

London, July 26.—Special dispatches from Petrograd ascribe to British armored cars a gallant part in covering the Russian retreat in Galicia. The infantry deserted them, hence their stand was unavailing but the German advance was held up some time. The commander in chief personally congratulated the British commander, Locker Lampson, and presented 26 crosses of St. George to his men.

PAID HIS DEBTS, BUT BEAT HIS WIFE

"A man may be honest as to dollars and cents and at the same time be cruel. I know a man who always paid his debts, but who beat his wife. Honesty and gentleness are not always companions."—Opie Read.

This is part of "Old Lam Jacklin's" philosophy of life, and when you hear Opie Read on the third night of the Chautauqua you will revel with him in that quaint, down-south logic with which he has supplied the chief characters in his more than twenty novels.

It will be worth your $2 season ticket to hear Opie Read, but there are sixteen other star attractions on the seven day program. You will want to hear them all:

- The Killarney Girls, in Irish costumes.
- Edwin M. Whitney, in "Turn to the Right!"
- The Regniers, music and impersonations.
- Ira C. B. Allen, household efficiency expert.
- Dr. Ng Poon Chew, "the Chinese Mark Twain."
- Montague Company, sketches from familiar operas.
- Opie Read, novelist, in humorous philosophy.
- Metropolitan Artists, well known Chicago musicians.
- Dr. Charles E. Barker, physical adviser to President Taft.
- Light Opera "Dorothy," by the Murray-Lane Company.
- Christine Giles Company, flute, violin, voice and piano.
- Dr. K. T. Hagerman, on "The Man With One Window."
- Ralph Bingham, America's chief fumemaker.
- Walton Pyre, presenting "The Spinner In the Sun."
- White Hussars, Ralph Danbar's Singing Band.
- Morning hour and children's features as usual.

By Captain GEORGE L. KILMER.

THE assassination on June 28, 1914, of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the throne, quickly resulted in the outbreak of a world war. When Austria-Hungary pressed her demands upon Serbia for reparation Russia championed the little Slav nation. Germany declared that her Austro-Hungarian ally must have a "free hand" in dealing with Serbia, and the storm broke.

The first two years of the war, from August, 1914, to August, 1916, were marked by the subjugation of nearly all of Belgium, part of northern France, all of Serbia and the greater part of Russian Poland by the German armies. Russia conquered and then lost a large slice of Austrian territory in Galicia. Following the invasion of Belgium in August, 1914, Great Britain and France entered the war as the allies of Russia. The German march toward Paris, through Belgium and France, was effectively checked at the river Marne early in September, 1914, and in the weeks following the opposing lines in France and Belgium were established practically where they remained for the next two years.

Italy entered the war in May, 1915, and attacked Austria by land, east and northeast of Venice. The first year of the war saw the fall of Warsaw and the extension of the German front to the Dvina river, midway between Warsaw and Petrograd. In 1916, the second year of the war, the Germans attacked with great force the French fortress of Verdun, but were unable to reduce it. This event was followed by a concerted drive by the French and British in northern France against the German lines along the Aisne and Somme rivers.

Throughout the first two years various local campaigns were inaugurated by the allies, notably for the capture of Constantinople (the Turks having joined the Teutonic powers late in 1914), with an expedition in Mesopotamia to support it. The move against the Turkish capital failed, and the forces were transferred to Greece to operate against the central powers in the Balkans, where the Bulgarians were fighting for Germany.

The greatest naval battle of the war, fought off Jutland in May, 1917, was a draw, and the large vessels have not taken decisive part in the progress of the war. In 1915 Germany started a system of drastic submarine warfare, primarily intended to blockade the ports of her foes. Belligerent and neutral alike were made to suffer in the submarine zones throughout 1915 and 1916, and an indirect result of Germany's naval policy was the entrance of the United States into the war.

Grounds For Allies' Optimism.

Almost at the close of the second year of the world war the British war minister, Lloyd George, speaking for the allies, said, "Victory is beginning to flow in our direction." It had been flowing in all directions whenever it flowed at all up to that time. So the third year of the conflict opened with optimism ruling in the camps of the allies. On the west front at the end of July, 1916, it was assumed that the French would hold on at Verdun, that the German line on the Somme and the Aisne was not in a pregnable and that the Russian drive headed by Brusiloff in Bukovina and eastern Galicia was proceeding with irresistible force toward the Stokhod and the Dniester.

Emphasis was given to the hopeful view by Italian success on both fronts in Austria. The great Austrian drive which began in April and aimed at the expulsion of invading armies from Trentino had been checked. This was a negative victory because the Austrian spoils had been heavy and the demand on Italian troops had interfered with Italy's aggressive movements in the south, where the objective of the Italians was Trieste. The fortified town of Goritz barred the way from the Isonzo river toward Trieste, and after a long and costly siege it fell on Aug. 9. Still further progress of the allied cause in the southeastern field laid fresh emphasis to Von Hindenburg's assertion that the war must be fought out in the east. Russia was making headway in Asia Minor, marching from bases in her home territory, with her armies backed up by her own fleet on the Black sea. This was really a strategic extension of her new line in Bukovina and Galicia.

Roumania Attacks German Rear.

As matters stood then, the third year opened with a serious outlook for Germany. Verdun was untaken, and the allies had stormed the third German line on the Somme front. Brusiloff's Russian column had indeed been checked on the Stokhod and Dniester, but its presence that far south on the road to Hungary compelled Austria to keep a strong force north of the Carpathian mountains. Then came a blow which lifted the hopes of the allies to the highest pitch—Roumania turned upon the Teutons. The situation at that time was as follows: The belligerents were at a deadlock on the Somme line, the Italians in Goritz, the supposed key to Trieste, and the allied column from Saloniki moving north into Macedonia to strike Bulgaria in the rear was making progress. For the moment it seemed the allies had the advantage in that zone where the decision was to be reached—the near east.

Between Two Fires.

It was alleged that Roumania would add 400,000 men to the enemies of Germany. Roumania's first move scored a tactical victory. Her troops crossed the frontier northward into Transylvania, where they were joined by a Russian column, which marched westward, far off on the southeastern flank of the Germans on the Dniester.

Forcing the mountain passes, the Roumanians captured Kronstadt and Orsova, but the triumph was not for long. A column of Bulgars, Germans and Turks, led by Von Mackensen, crossed the Danube from the south into Roumania, taking 20,000 prisoners in the first blow. Almost simultaneously Van Falkenhayn's mixed army of Germans and Austrians drove down from the north upon the invading Roumanians, captured passes in their rear and destroyed their armies. Kronstadt was recaptured. By the middle of October the Roumanians were in full retreat back over their border on the north. On the south the Germans had captured the main Roumanian port of Constantza, forced the enemy to evacuate Cernavoda, on the Danube, and destroyed the bridge.

Collapse of Roumania.

With the exception of a weak support by her nearest ally, Russia, Roumania got no direct help. Early in November the allies launched a new grand attack on the Somme, and Franco-Servians attacked Monastir, on the southern front. But neither of these diversions checked German progress in Roumania. The northern column, coming down from Austria under Von Falkenhayn, moved southeast into Roumania and met a composite force of Bulgars, Turks and Germans which Von Mackensen was leading northwest, fifty miles west of the Roumanian capital, Bukharest. In vain Russia began a new drive in the Carpathians. The Roumanians, strong in numbers, but weak in resisting power, were overcome, and in the last week of 1916 the Teutons were in Bukharest.

America in the War.

Two events of sudden development in the third year of the war may have a deciding influence—namely, the entrance of the United States as an ally of the entente powers and the collapse of Russia's aggressiveness. During the early months of the year the submarine dispute between this country and Germany quieted down. A U boat brought the war into western Atlantic waters by sinking neutral ships off Nantucket shoals in October, but the German pledge to safeguard neutral lives was observed. On Dec. 12 Germany and her allies, Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey, proposed peace negotiations, naming the United States as one of the intermediaries. On the 15th President Wilson sent a note to all belligerents asking them to name their terms. Meanwhile the allies replied to Germany, declining a conference, and Germany replied to Wilson, erasing the question of terms and getting off the discussion of permanent peace until the end of the war.

In January President Wilson revived interest in the subject of peace by outlining a plan for a peace league, making "peace without victory," "consent of the governed" and a "world Monroe doctrine" the fundamentals for a world peace. While the whole world was discussing this turn of affairs Germany informed neutrals on Jan. 31 that submarine warfare would be more ruthless than ever. Three days later the German ambassador was given his passports, and the president informed congress of the break and its causes. Ambassador Gerard received his passports at Berlin Feb. 5, and on the 10th Germany, through the Swiss government, proposed negotiation of the new dispute. This the United States declined unless the new submarine order was withdrawn.

After Von Bernstorff sailed and Gerard was out of Germany the state department disclosed a German plot to involve the United States with Japan and Mexico. War measures followed rapidly. Congress expired March 4 without endorsing the president's "armed neutrality" policy. A special session of the new congress was summoned to meet April 2, and meanwhile the president ordered armed guards placed on our merchant ships voyaging abroad. On April 6 congress formally declared war. Then followed a conscription law to create armies, loans to the allies—one of $2,000,000,000 to the nation by the people—the dispatch of war vessels to Europe under command of Rear Admiral Sims; also of Major General Pershing, to prepare a base for the American contingent already represented on the firing line in France by a detachment bearing the Stars and Stripes, on May 25.

The Russian Setback.

During the efforts to secure a diplomatic peace Russia stood firm. The duma rejected Germany's proposals, and the imperial government endorsed Wilson's peace league note. Russian support of Roumania had never been strong and entirely dropped away in the winter. It seemed that Russia was powerless. A revolution in which the troops and their generals figured deposed the czar the middle of March, and there began a state of military indecision and inactivity while factions contended for political control at Petrograd.

Early in February the German retrograde began north of the Somme. Bapaume and Peronne, the goals of months of bloody struggles, yielded the middle of March to the allies led by Nivelle and Haig, and shortly the Germans turned and began to resist vigorously all along the front. "Special reasons" was Berlin's explanation of this great and masterly retreat. Further withdrawal was forced by British attacks on the Ypres salient and at Messines in May and June.

Western Entente Powers Pressed.

The entrance of the United States as an ally led to an announcement by British and French commissioners sent here for conference, among them Marshal Joffre, that the resources of England, France and Italy in men, money, food and munitions were at a low ebb, and Russia must be considered as virtually eliminated as an aggressive force. These frank disclosures caused surprise and deep anxiety on this side of the ocean, the more so because the ruthless U boat operations, which began in February, had been more destructive than expected by the allies, although their toll had fallen far short of Germany's estimate—1,000,000 tons per month. The destruction of freight ships varied from week to week during March, April and May, but the total was so great as to forebode disaster unless the evil was speedily suppressed.

The entente's money problem was quickly solved by affording heavy credits to pay for their supplies brought here. A commission, headed by Efflu Root, repaired to Russia to swing the weight of the United States on the side of the forces in authority who favor a continuance of the war on Germany. The response to calls for troops and immense war funds and the successful registry for the draft, followed by the safe arrival of a large expeditionary force in France, led to a reaction during June from the misgivings and uncertainties which had prevailed for weeks.

Notable among the closing events of the third year of war are the renewal of attacks upon the Austrian fronts by Italian and Russian armies. The Italian movement began early in June and had for its object the recovery of positions in the Trentino, which the Austrians had captured in their great spring drive of 1916. At the close of June the Italians suffered a severe check.

July opened with a strong Russian offensive on the line of the Dniester, aimed at Lemberg. This was a renewal in part of the great drive led by General Brusiloff one year before. Inspired by the presence on the field of the new Russian war minister, Kerensky, the army of General Korniloff, in front of Halex, captured that position on the 10th, crossed the Dniester and marched toward Stryl, taking Kalucz 3, the 13th and prisoners which raised the total captives in the campaign to about 36,000 men.

The long-bruited cabinet upheaval in Germany took place on the 12th and resulted in the resignation of Chancellor Hollweg and the removal of Foreign Minister Zimmermann, who fostered the scheme to entangle the United States with Mexico and Japan. Hollweg's successor in office, Michaelis, has been ranked as a conservative on Germany's war policies. On the 15th the mobilization of the national guard, which will add 300,000 men to the federal army, was begun.

The Next Moves In the Draft Of Uncle Sam's Big New Army

Those Who Were Called First Received the News In a Philosophical Manner

Many Anxious to Get to France.
One Bet That He Would Be Chosen First and Won

IN one of the large newspaper offices of the country a linotypor was hammering out the draft numbers on the keyboard in front of him. No. 11 appeared on his "copy." He kept on tapping the keys. Then he stopped a moment and remarked:

"By gum, that's me! Well, if I'm of any use to Uncle Sam, all right."

"By gum, that's me!" That or some equivalent laconic expression was voiced by the great majority of the first thousand or two men whose red ink numbers corresponded to those contained in the little capsules which were drawn from the huge bowl in Washington.

As fast as the numbers were pulled in Washington they were sent by wire over the country and bulletined on store fronts, in hotels and elsewhere in public view. Apparently many cities abandoned work for the fascinating sensation of following the progress of the one lottery which has legal sanction. Except for being immeasurably more important and serious, it was like keeping track of a world's series game on a bulletin board. Most persons, particularly those whose low numbers in the drawing made the call for their examination for the draft a certainty, behaved soberly.

Here and there was a young patriot so anxious to get to France for a week at the foot that he laughed exultantly and even bragged about his number being among the earliest drawn. There is even one record instance of a man who wanted so to be conscripted and was so sure he would be that he had made a bet that his number would be the first one out of the globe at Washington. With the odds 10,499 to 1 against him he won. His number was 258. He threw up his hat and went home to break the good news to his father. This man, who may fairly be called as happy as any in New York today, has not a Yankee name. He is Nicolo Scotelario, a medical student, twenty-two years old.

The lottery was held in the public hearing room of the senate office building, with war department officials in charge of the actual drawing and with members of the senate and house military affairs committees as witnesses. Through the day there was a small crowd of spectators, but altogether probably less than a thousand persons saw any part of the process.

To Call 1,374,000 At Once.

As a result of the drawing every registered man is given a definite place in the liability for service list. Already 687,000 have been ordered to the colors to fill to war strength the regular army and national guard and to constitute the first increment of the national army. To secure the total, 1,374,000 men will be called for examination within a few weeks, officials estimating that two registrants must be called for every soldier accepted. These 1,374,000 will be taken from the head of the liability list, every local district furnishing a fixed quota.

Many Dramatic Incidents.

There were many intimate and dramatic episodes in the drawing. In the first place, Representatives Dent, Gordon, Nichols, Garrett and Morin, members of the military affairs committee, who witnessed the first stages of the drawing, were all opposed to the selective draft. They came to lend their presence to the occasion as a testimonial that they believed the drawing to be fair and square, even though they opposed the system.

There were a score or more of young men in the room, actively taking part in the drawing or reporting the results, who were numbered in the black capsules in the big jar. One of the war department clerks, standing blindfolded at the jar, drew out his own number, but did not know it until he heard the announcement. A faint smile flattered across his lips, but his hand dipped again into the jar with the clock-like regularity that had come of practice, and he heard some other fellow's number called when he handed the next capsule to the announcer.

One of the young men at the press tables, writing down the numbers and passing them on to a telegraph operator, mechanically took down a number as it was announced. "That's me," he said as he passed the number across the table, and his pencil was busy again on his pad of paper in a fraction of a second.

The revised system of drawing and the fact that the first numbers drawn appeared to run to the highest numbers left the first call in doubt up until a late hour. The higher numbers drew only a few men into the service, while the lower numbers brought in at least 4,500. By 8 o'clock, however, there was no longer doubt that the number then being drawn would not be included in the first levy, and those keeping track of the tally sheets knew about where the young men in whom they were interested stood in the draft.

No. 1 Causes Interest.

There was a great deal of interest over No. 1 and when it would come out of the jar in the gamble for military service for flag and country. It was the four thousand two hundred and sixty-ninth number drawn, and it is probable that none of the No. 1's—a card held in every one of the 4,557 districts of the country—will be called in the first draft.

Some Interesting Incidents.

"Ah, well, it's the first that comes first and it's the last that comes last," declared Walter J. Hitchins, a copy Scotsman, twenty-nine, of Brooklyn, when he learned his number was selected first. Hitchins is the first of the draft in Brooklyn.

"I'm willing to do me bit," Hitchins went on to say, but he explained he might have trouble because of his wife and three-year-old child whom, he declared, he will first have to look after. "Now, I won't claim exemption because of my being here from England but four years, but I'll ha' to do it for me wife and baby's sakes."

There is no prouder mother than the mother of Joseph E. Raab of Brooklyn, whose name was first also. She said: "My boy Joseph is just twenty-one years old, but he is ready to go. I've kept him home as long as I could because his older brother, John, is already in the guard, a member of the Seventh regiment."

"If you believe me, he is the real apple of my eye."

One Blank Discovered.

When the ten thousand and fourth draft capsule was drawn it was found

MAY YET VOLUNTEER.

Any one of the 9,700,000 young men who were drawn for army service may yet enlist in the regular army, the national guard, the navy or the marine corps and automatically pass from the list of conscripted persons.

This right will pass from the individual the minute he receives by mail the official notice from his local board to present himself for examination.

If he volunteers before getting this notice he can pick his branch of the service.

If he is taken under the selective draft he will be assigned to any branch the government designates, without his assent.

Brigadier General Crowder, provost marshal general, officially announced this privilege.

to be blank, the first to be found thus far in the drawing. The fact was noted on tally sheets before a new 10,004 was drawn.

Fixing Quotas Next Step.

For the benefit of those who now have their numbers and know about the order in which they are likely to be called for examination under the selective draft law it may be stated that the next official move to be made, according to the regulations, is:

The determination by the governor of the quotas to be called and furnished by the several local boards.

This will determine how many men from your district must go into the service. The possibility of exemptions will necessitate the examination of two or three times as many men as are needed.

The war department's bulletin for the information of registrants says:

As soon as quotas are assigned to each state and each board, each board will call upon persons whose cards are in its jurisdiction instructing them to present themselves for examination. This call will be posted at the office of the local board and the papers will be requested to print it. A notice will also be mailed to you, but the posting of the list at the office of the board will be deemed sufficient notice to charge you with the duty of presenting yourself.

The law therefore makes it your duty to inform yourself when you are called. The mailing is for your convenience, but if the letter never reaches you you cannot make that an excuse.

Watch the lists at the office of your board and see when you are called for examination.

You must report for physical examination on the day named in your call.

(a) If you are found physically disqualified the board will give you a certificate which will explain to you what your further duties are.

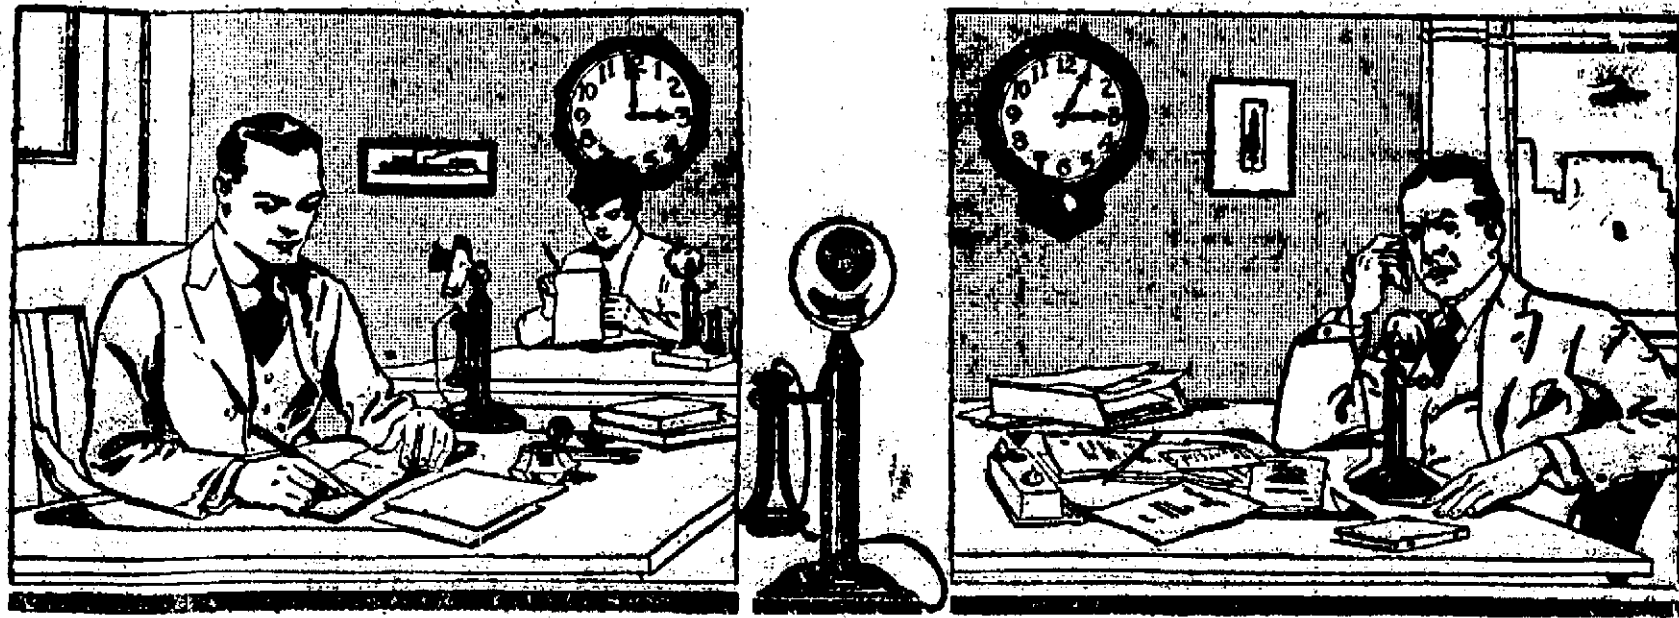

(b) If you are found physically qualified and file a claim for exemption within seven days after your call you will be given ten days after filing your claim of exemption to file proof in support of your claim of exemption.

(c) If you are found physically qualified and file no claim for exemption or if you do not appear for physical examination your name will be posted to the district board as one who was called for military service and was not exempted or discharged.

On the eighth day after call or within two days thereafter copies of the list of persons so posted to the district boards will be given to the press with a request for publication, will be posted in a place at the office of the local board accessible to the public view, and notice will be mailed to you at the address on your registration card. Therefore watch the notices posted in the office of the board about ten days after the day you were called and make arrangements for the prompt receipt of mail.

The above instructions from the war department therefore put it up to you.

This Kind of Discourtesy Is Unnecessary With Automatic

"Wait a Minute"

MR. Jones wanted to talk with Mr. Thomas and asked his clerk to call him by telephone.

When Mr. Thomas answered, he was told to "wait a minute."

A few moments later when Mr. Jones got ready to talk, he found no one was on the line. Thinking the operator had cut him off, he asked his clerk to put in the call again.

That happened three times; then Mr. Jones got mad and put in the call himself.

Mr. Thomas answered and Mr. Jones said, "What the deuce is the matter with your telephone, Charlie? This is the fourth time I have called you."

To which Mr. Thomas replied, "Oh, was it you that was calling! I did answer the telephone three times and was told each time to 'wait a minute.' I could not see any reason why I should waste my time holding the line for someone else, so I hung up. If you yourself had been on the line, ready to talk the first time I answered, you would have saved each of us a lot of time and bother."

Situations like this usually occur because a large army of secretaries and clerks is trying to conserve the time of its busy chiefs. It must be borne in mind, however, that many of the chiefs called are busy, too! It is a severe drain on one's good nature to be asked to "wait a minute" or "hold the line" when you do not know who is calling you—and sometimes when you do! When the telephone door at which you have knocked swings open, be ready to enter.

How many times has this happened to you? Have you ever thought that by using the telephone yourself you could conserve your time and that of the party you were calling?

Think this over. It is worthy the attention of every user of a telephone.

Five minutes seem like five hours. Note the hands of the two clocks in the above illustrations.

"I TOOK TANLAC" SAYS T. CATLIN

Newark Man Declaring Medicine Put Stomach Into Ideal Condition.

"I took Tanlac," exclaimed Thomas Catlin, B. & O. railroad man, 22
Boner street, Newark, Wednesday.
He then added:

"I can now say that medicine helped me out wonderfully. I had stomach trouble with all the miserable feelings that go along with it.
I had bloating, shortness of breath, palpitation, bad taste in my mouth and a coated tongue. I felt so tired or any kind of misery after eating.
Every bite I eat digests just right.
Of course, my bowels were always sluggish, my appetite had diminished to nothing and I began to 'fall off.' I was pretty badly run down all over and had to get relief or go to bed.

"I read of the great good Tanlac was doing a number of people in this town and that gave me faith in it. I tried Tanlac myself and it helped me as much as others. It gave me a first-class appetite and there's no more bloating, shortness of breath
or any kind of misery after eating.
Every bite I eat digests just right.
My bowels couldn't act better, my tongue's not coated and my mouth tastes clean. I feel better all around and I think I have gained some weight. Tanlac's a fine tonic for a fellow."

Tanlac, the new vegetable tonic, stomachic, appetizer, combatant and invigorant, is being specially introduced at W. A. Erman's Arcade drug store, where the Tanlac man gives the particulars to steadily growing crowds daily. Tanlac may be procured at every first-class drug store in Newark.—Advertisement. 7-26-42

man, president.

Change of Dates.
The Missionary society of the Plymouth Congregational church will meet with Mrs. I. N. Wilson of the Mt. Vernon road on Friday at 2 o'clock, instead of Thursday, as an-

Baird is a graduate of Newark High school and resided in East Locust street.

Adding Another Story.
Actor Ernest Settle is now adding another story to that part of the Arcade occupied by the Newark Telephone company's office. The growth of the Newark Exchange made it necessary for the company to have more room for offices and equipment.

Patent on Gas Burner.
Government patent on a combined gas burner and lighter has been issued to George E. Pickup of the Wehrle company, according to E. Dunlap, Wheeling patent at-

Ice Cream Social.
The Wilkes Workers class of the Licking Baptist church will give an body welcome.

Police Court.
Carl Ward, held for the theft of the safe from the Edwards pool room, was bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $500. Samuel Clark, charged with the theft of airhose from the B. & O., was ordered to leave the city. Two drunks were fined the usual $5 and costs.
One man, found drunk and convicted of begging, drew fines of $5 and costs on each charge.

Pittinger to Speak.
Department Commander Pittinger of the Ohio G. A. R. will be one of the speakers at the Patriotic demonstration and soldiers reunion at Memorial Park, Black Run, next Thursday, August 2. Mr. Pittinger is one of the union soldiers who took part in the capture of the engine
"The General" an episode of the civil war which stood prominently among the dramatic incidents of those days. At the reunion, a statue of Abraham Lincoln will be unveiled.

"REJECTED FOR PRESENT."
Jerome Norpell, of Granville street was rejected temporarily after his examination by surgeons for the navy at the recruiting bureau in Columbus yesterday. Two hundred applications are on file in the Columbus bureau and only the best men physically are being accepted for service now.

whelmed and its defenders nearly all captured or killed, the Germans improved the situation on their weakest front materially. That view is based on opinion that the only hope of decisive attainments for the allies in the west lies in rolling up the German right flank, where it reaches the sea in Belgium.

If that could be done, it is argued that the U-boat bases could be stamped out and the only offensive instrument of the Germans be eliminated entirely or so seriously impaired as to make it ineffective.

The big question is whether it could be done. It would require combined army and navy operations on that part of the Belgian coast held by the Germans, for it would be necessary to force a landing behind their line and force the whole right flank back from the sea as a result.

The price of a victory of this nature against the U-boats and German shore batteries probably would be appalling, and there is nothing to indicate that the effort is being seriously considered at the present. It cannot be questioned, however, that many army men both in Great Britain and the United States favor some such desperate attempt to bring the struggle to a conclusion.

Reports received from France, official and unofficial, so far as known give no cheering picture of what must be done. There appears to be no doubt that the allied line can stand against any force Germany can bring against it. Even the Russian disaster does not affect the situation. But to gather the necessary strength for a successful offensive will take time and ample sea transportation facilities if the United States is to furnish the needed surplus of men, airplanes, munitions and food.

The transportation problems before the United States, both on land and sea, are constantly increasing in scope. It seems to be certain now that whole railroad systems will have to be set up in France to give the American line the flow of war materials and men that it must have to press home an attack.

There is an old military rule that a fortified position cannot be taken by direct attack, but must be turned or isolated entirely. Some observers here say the allied offensive has consisted only of direct attacks against a line of fortifications stronger than any fort of former days. The maze of trenches, entanglements, armored strong posts and fortified villages extends miles back of the front on both sides, so that in effect a fortified belt stretching from the sea to the Swiss border, there is perhaps more than 100 miles wide.

It is the belief of some military men here that no breach can be made for many months through the German line of sufficient width to permit such operations in the rear as would force a rolling up of the entire German front.

Admitting all these points, however, there is no sign of discouragement among American officials.
President Wilson's declaration that the nation, not merely an army, must be made ready for war is being carried out determinedly and apparently with confidence that in time men and supplies can be got to France in sufficient force to make certain the result.

Secretary Baker, in a statement last night formally announcing the return of the mission of American army officers sent to France to study technical questions, said that the mission "is unanimous in its praise of the splendid morale of the allied forces on the western front, and while it shares the general realization of the gravity of this war, it has returned without any pessimistic opinion whatever as to its final outcome."

The secretary said he had inquired fully and found that there is no truth in stories purporting to quote members of the party as saying that the German lines are impregnable.

FIND KNITTERS WHO STITCH GARMENTS FOR MEASUREMENTS

Heluck chapter, D. A. R., had a very interesting meeting with Mrs.
J. B. Jones, Wednesday afternoon.
Many garments were beautifully finished. Yet a word of caution is here given for knitters to be careful that articles measure correctly and laid flat, not stretched, a bit. Watch the measurements and follow directions.

If you are a woman who has not found a definite task for the hours
you used to spend over solitary, would you care to help us out? The work is easy and the demand great.
Directions are furnished, and while they must be implicitly followed, as garments must measure correctly, as the work is easy.

Many of the men have already written without being asked, eager, boyish letters, hungry for some word from home, touched and grateful for the comfort of the outfits and for something more. They haven't been forgotten! Can you realize the cheer of that?

There isn't a boy "out there" who won't fight a little better, live a little happier and, if need be, die a little more bravely, because there is someone who is watching and working for him. Will you stand behind a boy? Just a little while each day! It won't mean very much to you in the way of work or sacrifice, and it will mean so much, so very much to the boy "out there."

If you have no time at all for knitting, there is no reason why you shouldn't share in the work if it interests you. We need money for the war.

Life is a grind, and you don't have to be a hardy-gurdy man to realize it, either.

CAUSE OF BLAST IS UNKNOWN; 62 MEN WERE KILLED

(Associated Press Telegram)
Sydney, N. C., July 26.—Officials of the Dominion Coal company today said that they had been unable to determine the cause of the explosion in the company's mine at New Waterford yesterday which caused the death of 62 men. Forty-six bodies had been located early today, of which 30 had been brought to the surface. Officials said there was no fire in the mine.
When the explosion occurred 260 men were under ground. Rescue parties today were making as rapid investigations of the workings as possible, having in view the possibility that some of the men imprisoned might yet be saved. The explosion was at a point 2100 feet down the slope, between the No. 6 and No. 8 landings. Gas fumes were responsible for a number of the deaths. Many of the victims were married. Two men died after being brought to the surface. One of these was a member of a rescue party.

315 MILLION CASH YET TO BE PAID ON LIBERTY LOAN

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, July 26.—Of the balance due on the Liberty Loan in the three installments yet to be paid, the government will receive only about 18 to 16 per cent or approximately $315,000,000 to $325,000,000 in actual cash. The entire remainder already has been paid, either in cash or upon treasury certificates of indebtedness which are payable in lieu of cash on the bonds.
Of the two billion dollars realized from the sale of the bonds, $1,385,000 was paid in cash and certificates June 30, leaving a balance due by subscribers of $615,000,000. This sum, however, will not all be paid in cash as there are outstanding approximately $300,000,000 of certificates issued in anticipation of the bond issue, which may be converted into bonds.

SEEK INDIVIDUALS IN GERMAN PLOT AMONG RUSSIANS

(Associated Press Telegram)
Copenhagen, July 26.—The revolt of Nikolai Lenine in Petrograd and the activities of his followers at the front brought into prominence the connection between this party and the German Socialists and the German government to which the Associated Press repeatedly referred when the Russian "peace angels" were being sped homeward through Germany by the government. Petrograd dispatches indicate an attempt to identify agents who acted as media of communication and paymasters.

One of the most prominent of these resides in Copenhagen. He is Dr. Helfand, known in German Socialist circles under the pseudonym of Parvus, of Russian birth. The Associated Press correspondent first knew of him as a member of the council of workmen during the Russian revolution in 1905. At that time his name was associated with rumors of irregularities with the council's funds.

He next appeared as publisher for Maxim Gorky with whom he also had financial disputes. Helfand became allied with the German Socialists and rose to considerable prominence as a writer. He was naturalized as a German during the war by special permission of the German government. Immediately after the recent Russian revolution he devoted himself to opening communications between the Russo-German Socialists in Copenhagen who entered into relations with the Socialists in Russia.

Dr. Helfand despite his Socialist antecedents stood high in favor of ex-Chancellor Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg and the German authorities and was permitted to travel freely between Germany and Copenhagen. The Associated Press correspondent was indebted to him indirectly for occasional valuable German information, notably the government's promise to Herr Scheidemann to abstain from hostilities in the east

CHILD SERIOUSLY HURT BY LIGHTNING'S BOLT

Wednesday evening, about 5 o'clock during an electric storm which visited the vicinity, Mary and Mrs. John Godfrey, Jr., of the Frazysburg road, three miles north of Zanesville, was seriously injured when their home was struck by lightning.
The child, with two smaller sisters was standing in the doorway when the heavy current leaped from the doorframe to the child, rendering her senseless and burning her left side from shoulder to knee. The other two children were not even stunned, but a small chicken three feet in front of the child was instantly killed.
It is thought she will recover.

FRENCH IS INCLUDED IN HIGH SCHOOL COURSE

For the first time in the history of the Zanesville High School, French has been put in the courses of study to be taken up with the opening of school in September. The four courses offered are history, Latin, commercial and science. A German course may be taken if any pupil desires it, but for the past several years there have been no requests for it.

RAILROAD PAY INCREASED.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Paris, Wednesday, July 25.—The government has given orders that all employees of the state railroads will receive increases in salaries of at least $84 annually. The ruling takes effect as from June 1. It was decided upon after the receipt of a report from Georges Desplas, minister of public works, that conditions of railroad workers must be ameliorated immediately by increased pay to meet the high cost of living.

CHAUTAUQUA GETS PRAISE FROM OTHER TOWNS ON CIRCUIT

From Altoona and Monongahala, Pa., Fairmont and Morgantown, W. Va., and other cities where the Red-path Chautauqua has been heard this season, come reports that the attractions are by all odds the best that have ever been offered on the circuit of which this city is a part.

Mr. Oliver, the advance representative, who is here assisting in the preliminary campaign, is especially enthusiastic over the Murray-Lane company, which is to be heard here in the comic opera "Donkey." There are 25 people in the company, including a six-piece orchestra, which makes the musical score effective. There are more than 20 musical numbers in the play, some of the most tuneful melodies being: "Be Wise in Time," "You Swear to Be Good," and "Contentment." J. K. Murray, Clara Lane, Helen Guenther, Howard Pascal, Joseph Del Puente, and William Friend, are some of the principals, the last named being a star comedian.

Among the other headline attractions of Chautauqua week are the White Hussars, Health Day with Dr. Chas. E. Barker in charge, Patriotic Day with lectures by Dr. Ng. Poon Chew, Chinese orator and statesman, and Mrs. Ida C. Bailey Allen, food conservation expert; Opie Read, novelist and entertainer; the Montague Sisters, and Ralph Bingham, humorist.

The Chautauqua is to be held the week beginning August 1, on the tabernacle grounds.

RECOMMEND ARMY UNIFORM.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Cedar Point, July 26.—A military uniform designed by John Volk of Columbus, will be recommended to Uncle Sam by the International Custom Cutters' Association in convention here. It embodies all the good points of the uniforms of the United States, Great Britain and France. Military ideas will prevail in overcoats next winter, the cutters say.
